

Leader-in-Action (LiA) Award

Cadette Requirements

Show off your leadership skills and earn your Leader-in-Action (LiA) award by assisting your Brownie sisters with a National Leadership Journey!

To earn your LiA award:

1. Find a group of Girl Scout Brownies who are about to begin—or have recently started—a National Leadership Journey.
 - If you don't know any Brownie troops, ask an adult troop or a service unit volunteer for assistance.
2. Connect with the Brownies' troop leaders to discover how you can assist with the Journey.
 - Learn about the Brownies' interests and find out if the leaders are facing any Journey-related challenges.
 - If applicable, read the Journey requirements and adult guide.
3. Collaborate with the troop leaders to schedule dates and times.
4. Plan your activities! Make sure each is fun, engaging, and appropriate for the girls' program level.
 - If you're unsure about any aspect of your plan, don't hesitate to check in with leaders of the Brownie troop and/or your own troop.
5. After completing your activities, ask their troop leaders for feedback.
 - What worked well? What might you do differently next time?
6. Now that you've finished the project part of your LiA, think about and answer these questions:
 - What did you Discover about yourself as you guided Brownies?
 - In what ways did you Connect with Brownies? Why is it important to engage with younger girls?
 - How did you encourage Brownies to Take Action?

Congratulations! Wear your LiA award with pride!
