Accepting Card Payments for Product Sales with Square

Girl Scouts of Southeastern Michigan (GSSEM) recommends that troops use Square, a popular mobile card processor, to accept customer payments during the Fall Product Program and/or Cookie Program.

Square is simple to use, free to get started, and has more than 100 million users worldwide. Troops only need to pay one low rate per transaction. Note: We've had excellent results using Square, but GSSEM isn't involved with how it interacts with your troop account. If you have any issues, please visit <https://squareup.com/help>.

- On your Square dashboard:
 - Click the Get Started with Square Point of Sale dropdown.

Deposits & Fees

- Next-Day Bank Deposits
Transactions made before 8:00 PM EST will post to your troop's bank account the next business day. You'll receive the net total of revenue, which is the amount of funds collected after Square has deducted its fees.
- Transaction Fees
Each card swipe costs 2.6% + 10¢ deducted from the deposit—that's around 23¢ on a $5.00 box of Girl Scout Cookies. When manually entering card numbers, the fee increases to 3.5% + $0.15 per transaction.
- Other Fees or Charges
Square doesn't have any hidden charges, monthly fees, or settlement charges.

Other Information

- Accepted Cards
Square Readers accept credit, debit, and cash cards with one of four major logos: VISA, Mastercard, American Express, or Discover.
- Transaction Receipts
For each transaction, customers may receive a printed or digital receipt (via text or email).
- Lost or Damaged Readers
At your request, Square will mail you a free replacement reader. However, if you need one immediately, you can purchase it from a participating retail location for $10.00. It will come with a redemption code that you can enter into your dashboard, and then Square will deposit $10.00 into your troop's linked bank account as reimbursement.
