Information for Girl Delivered Online Orders

What are Girl-Delivered Online Orders?

A feature on the Girl Scout's online storefront that allows customers who live locally to purchase nuts or candy to be delivered in-person by the Girl Scout. The Girl Delivery option has no shipping fee!

How does it work?

Girl Scouts will enter friend/family email addresses into their online storefront and will share the link to their online storefront via email. When a customer clicks on the link to the online storefront, they will have two options to purchase nuts and candy—either Girl Delivery or Direct Shipping (shipping charges apply). Customers choosing the Girl Delivery option will select the items they wish to purchase and will fill out the required information. Girl Scouts/Caregivers will then have access to reports that detail the customer's purchases and contact information, so delivery of the items can be scheduled.

How does an order get entered into our online account?

When a customer chooses Girl Delivery, the order automatically carries over to the online system and will come with your troop's product order. Do not manually enter Girl Delivered orders, as this will duplicate the Scout's order.

How does the customer pay for and receive their order?

Customers will pay for the products online at the time of purchase. The Girl Scout they ordered from is responsible for delivering the product.

What if the customer cancels the order?

If a customer wants to cancel their online Girl Delivered order, they must contact M2 Media's Customer Care team. M2 Media's Customer Care team can be reached via phone at 1-800-372-8520, or email at question@gsnutsandmags.com.

Canceled orders will automatically be removed from the Girl Scout's sales totals.

When can the Girl-Delivered feature be used?

The feature will be available beginning on Monday, September 14, 2026. The last day for customers to place an order for Girl Delivery is Monday, October 26, 2026.
