Be a Badge Boss

We are looking for a few good women (and men) to help Girl Scouts earn badges in STEM! You've got the skills that make you fierce in the workplace. Here's your chance to help Girl Scouts learn from you and gain some skills and interest in the field you love so much!

Here's how it works:

You're the Boss—you design how you'll deliver the program content! You choose the badge (from literally dozens of topics!) and where and when you can meet the girls. We can match your skills to the badge. We'll find a troop to sign up. For your meeting, we provide a description of the badge, the five steps required for earning it, and what the girls will know once they completed the steps.
